The Women in Leadership Conference is an annual conference organized by a committee of MBA women leaders from the Rice University chapter of the National Association of Women MBAs. This leadership conference was created with the objective of providing present and future women business leaders with a unique forum to exchange ideas, providing women an opportunity to gain thought leadership on professional development and issues important to women in today’s workforce. The conference offers a significant opportunity for corporations and industry leaders to directly contribute to the development of women leaders in the community. The National Association of Women MBAs (NAW MBA) is dedicated to empowering graduate women in business in order to propel more women into leadership positions in corporate America and to enhance diversity in the workplace. The NAW MBA chapter at the Jesse H. Jones School of Business achieves this goal through:

- Organizing networking events with alumni, professional women, and local NAW MBA chapter members
- Planning the annual Women in Leadership Conference at the Jones School
- Encouraging attendance at the NAW MBA National Conference and Career Fair
- Providing support through mentoring opportunities
- Raising awareness through community outreach
Dear Women in Leadership Conference Attendees,

Welcome to the Jones Graduate School of Business at Rice University. We are pleased to announce the National Association of Women MBAs (NAWMBA) 14th annual Women in Leadership Conference. As in years past, this event seeks to educate, empower, and connect MBA students and women from various industries in the Houston area through a series of thought-provoking panels from women business leaders.

While women have made much progress in business, there is still much work to be done. This year’s Women in Leadership Conference, themed A View from the Top, aims to innovate and inspire women in our communities. You will hear from a diverse set of women leaders from a variety of industries about their personal path to the top and what happens afterwards. We are pleased to share with you remarkable stories from truly inspirational women who have led expeditions and moved mountains, sometimes forging their own path, and in doing so, redefining success and happiness. Our intent is to facilitate professional and personal relationships and to enhance the development of thought leadership by providing a unique opportunity to interact with and learn from some of the most inspiring women leaders in the community.

Without the support of the students, staff and faculty of the Jones Graduate School of Business and the generosity of our corporate sponsors, the NAWMBA Women in Leadership Conference would not be possible. A heartfelt thank you goes out to all those involved and to our speakers and panelists for taking time to share their ideas and insights.

Finally, thank you for joining us. We encourage you to meet new people, inspire, and be inspired. Hopefully, this event will help you in your journey to the top and beyond.

Sincerely,
The NAWMBA–Rice Chapter Board

The Jones Graduate School of Business at Rice University is one of the world’s leading business schools. KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

ANGELA BLANCHARD
President and CEO, Neighborhood Centers, Inc.

Through more than 30 years of experience, Angela Blanchard has reached an epiphany: a community should be defined by its strengths, resources, achievements and hopes— not its degree of “brokenness.” As president and CEO of Neighborhood Centers Inc., she has extended this community development framework throughout the Houston region to impact over 404,000 people a year. Under Angela’s vision and leadership, Neighborhood Centers remains the largest non-profit in Texas and is ranked in the top one percent of charitable groups in the nation. Her insightful knowledge of community revitalization and its impact has garnered three invitations to the White House to meet with community development leaders, senior white house officials and President Obama. Named one of Houston’s 50 Most Influential Women by Houston Women Magazine, Angela has also presented at the Clinton Global Initiative, the Business Innovation Factory (BIF) and TEDxHouston. She is a board member of the Greater Houston Partnership (GHP) and was recently appointed to the GHP Regional Workforce Development Task Force.

JO MILLER
CEO, Women’s Leadership Coaching, Inc.

CEO of Women’s Leadership Coaching, Inc., Jo Miller is the creator of the Women’s Leadership Coaching® system, a roadmap for women who want to break into leadership positions in business. Used successfully by thousands of women worldwide, the system identifies the key steps women must take to advance into positions of influence and leadership—especially in industries long considered “a man’s world,” such as technology, finance, and energy. The Women’s Leadership Coaching® system covers specific strategic and tactical skills needed to break through those roadblocks and move ahead. Jo is an internationally sought-after speaker who delivers more than 60 presentations per year to audiences of up to 1,200 for women’s conferences, women’s professional associations, and Fortune 1000 corporate women’s initiatives. Jo has been developing and implementing coaching programs for emerging women leaders since 1998. She was named one of Silicon Valley’s “Women of Influence” in 2008 and serves on the board of advisors for Global Tech Women.

VISIONARY LEADERSHIP

Despite increasing representation, female executives are still relatively rare. What does it take to rise through the ranks of a successful organization? Highly accomplished women executives in various industries will share their experiences, advice and insight into their personal journeys rising up the corporate ladder.
